

Constructing A Legacy

By RAY HUARD

In 1983, Doug Barnhart created what became San Diego's biggest home-grown construction company — Douglas E. Barnhart Inc. Then, in 2008, he sold it when he was diagnosed with prostate cancer.

Photo courtesy of Barnhart-Reese Construction Inc.

San Diego's Bayside Fire Station Number 2 is among the projects completed by Barnhart-Reese Construction Inc.

WORKFORCE: Experience, Bonds Are Building Materials Of Family Business

But Barnhart's daughter Tami Barnhart-Reese had grown up in the company, and she and her husband, West Reese, weren't ready to get out of the business. Tami was vice president of marketing and West was vice president for fixed equipment assets when Barnhart sold the company.

"This is kind of what I knew and I've been around it for a long, long time," said Tami, who recalls spending time in the office with her father as a young child and working summers there as she grew older.

► Barnhart page 29

Sony Seeks Workforce That Is 'Ready Now'

LEADERSHIP: Recruitment, Inclusion Efforts Vital to Success

By ELISE REUTER

As chief operating officer of Sony Electronics in Rancho Bernardo, Mike Fasulo has one focus: developing the next generation of talent and leadership at Sony.

Mike Fasulo

Fasulo refers to his work as "ready now" — which he sees as key to the company's future.

"Employees within the company, how do we develop them to be ready for their next whatever —"

► Sony page 31

NASH Race Has Room For Multiple Winners

BIOTECH: Five S.D. Cos. Trying for Liver Therapeutic

By JARED WHITLOCK

It's a market forecast to reach upward of $35 billion. And it's untapped — for now.

Viking Therapeutics and at least four other San Diego biotechs are fueling a race in non-alcoholic steatohepatitis, or NASH, a fatty liver disease without an approved medicine.

Biotech watchers anticipate a wave of new NASH medicines in the next few years. That's as promising drug candidates emerge from late-stage clinical trials.

Company executives and analysts said San

► Liver Disease page 36

Boutique Gyms Ready to Compete for Bigger Market Share

FITNESS: Personal Service, Community Feel Attract Membership

By MARIEL CONCEPCION

Sharon Camarillo, a Scripps Ranch resident, has typically worked out in the comfort of her home or sometimes at her local community club. But, since last summer, the 36-year-old mother of three has also been a member of F45, a boutique-style gym founded in Australia which opened a location in a shopping center just minutes from her home last year. The price tag for the intimate, 45-minute long classes is approximately $150/month.

► Boutique Gyms page 30

Photo courtesy of Pure Indoor Cycling Inc.

Pure Indoor Cycling offers five classes per weekday and has nearly 400 members.

8

Life Sciences: INmune Bio raises $8.16M in trading debut

10

Dining: Broken Yolk owner built up a breakfast chain empire

13

Special Report: Philanthropists, donors deliver needed dollars for institutions.

SDBJ

THE LISTS

Defense Contractors Page 16

Veteran-Owned Businesses Page 18

No photo of a tall bank building?

Even our ads are different from other banks.

Contact me today to help grow your business.

Derrick Wong
SVP/Commercial Banking Manager
858.201.4056

Serving businesses across California, Arizona, Nevada, and Washington.

Member FDIC

Forbes 2019
BEST BANKS
IN AMERICA

PACIFIC PREMIER BANK®

PPBI.com/SanDiego

Pacific Premier Bank is a registered trademark. All rights reserved.